

OxBlue Receives Prestigious Best and Brightest Award Third Year Running

ATLANTA, May, 22, 2014 – OxBlue, a leader and innovator in the construction camera industry, is once again recognized as one of the 101 Best and Brightest™ Companies to Work For in Atlanta, a distinction reserved for organizations whose workplace environments cultivate employee enrichment and satisfaction. This 2014 recognition marks the third year in a row for the construction webcam service provider.

"As an innovator in the construction camera industry," explains OxBlue President Chandler McCormack, "our workplace environment has always been very important to us. It has to be structured enough to keep everyone focused on the right objectives, but flexible enough to encourage creativity and initiative-taking. So, it's truly an honor to be recognized for providing an environment that serves our team members well."

Best and Brightest award winners are selected based on a rigorous two-pronged assessment: a company-HR survey and an employee survey. Each assessment tool measures such variables as

- Compensation and benefits
- Work-life balance
- Employee development, engagement, and retention
- Recognition of individual and team achievements
- Strategic company performance

Companies can use assessment results to guide them in improving their workplace environments.

According to McCormack, making sure team members have the tools, motivation, and support they need is vital to both employee satisfaction and the company's mission.

This year's award makes it the third consecutive year that OxBlue is recognized as one of the 101 Best and Brightest™ Companies to Work For in Atlanta.

"We strive to provide our clients with the very best in technology, service, and support, and we know that delivering this successfully and consistently depends on the sustained engagement of the entire OxBlue team. Being a three-time winner is reassurance that we are creating the kind of corporate culture that benefits team members and the company alike."
