As a consultant on the Revenue Cycle team, Sue offers a range of expertise in the area of professional service coding, billing, auditing, and education.

She has spent the past fourteen years working in a variety of settings and her experience includes working with a multitude of specialties. Having worked in all aspects of professional coding and billing, Sue provides a critical eye and mind to projects.

Sue's extensive knowledge of the coding and billing process offers a valuable balance of revenue and compliance expertise, including hands-on experience with billing operations and denial management. She has a special strength in surgery and obstetric-related specialties including general OB, maternal fetal medicine, urogynecology and gynecologic oncology. Her experience includes:

- Perform assessments focused on improved provider financial performance, resulting in improved reimbursement while maintaining compliant practices.
- Evaluation of low-paid claims to identify missed revenue opportunities.
- Complete audits of professional documentation and coding for providers in a variety of settings including large medical groups, independent physician practices and health systems.
- Provide education related to regulatory requirements and reimbursement opportunities for providers and their staff.
- Review of policies and procedures for validity, accuracy, efficiency, and compliance with any applicable rules and/or regulations.
- Assisted with multi-department process improvement projects to compliantly improve revenue for multiple specialties.
- Worked with a variety of electronic medical record and administrative systems, including Epic, 3M Encoder and Vitalware.

In addition to the Certified Professional Coder (CPC) credential, Sue is also a Certified Obstetrics Gynecology Coder (COBGC). She is an active member of the American Academy of Professional Coders (AAPC).
