

International Women's Day

#BreakTheBias

Who would you like to thank this IWD and why?

"My grandma inspired me and I would like to thank her; she was a person with solid integrity, steadfast and never succumbed to challenges in life despite being a mother and sole breadwinner during her time."

Agnes Lim, vPost

"ALL the women who were able to join HER BLACK BOOK for our 'Festival of Her' – a celebration and nod to the women behind the brands."

Sali Sasi, Her Black Book

"I'd like to thank sister for being there for me despite living 12,000 kms away while continuing to show me how to be a 'strong independent woman.'"

Blue Taylor, Commission Factory

"A lot of people want to thank their parents and I am not bucking the trend! I am who I am due to them, they showed me shared responsibilities at home and work, both had an amazing work ethic, never told me what I should do with my life, but let me find my own way, (with a few mistakes along the way of course.)"

Emma Bhatti, Commission Factory

"All the women who get behind me to support the businesses I am involved in, from customers, clients and audience members."

Alyce Tran, LTK

"I'd like to thank all of the strong female leaders I have had the pleasure of working with so far in my career. These women have led by example and shown me every single day that if we strive for greatness there is absolutely no stopping us. Everything is possible no matter your gender, race or religion. Their mentorship over the years has powered me with all of the tools I need to succeed and push the boundaries of what is possible."

Natalie Velez, The GROUPON Reach Network