GALLUP-HEALTHWAYS: NAPLES NO. 1 FOR 'OVERALL WELL-BEING'

Naples has ranked No. 1 in the country among communities with the highest overall well-being in 2016, according to a Gallup-Healthways poll (www.well-beingindex.com/2016-community-rankings) released today. This is Naples' second consecutive time atop the rankings. The report, part of the Gallup-Healthways State of American Well-Being series, examines well-being across the nation, with 189 communities ranked based on their Well-Being Index score. The report analyzes how well-being varies by community, as well as who leads and lags across the five elements of well-being—purpose, social, financial, community and physical. Cape Coral-Fort Myers ranked 38th.

IDENTITY FRAUD INSTITUTE TO PRESENT TWO WORKSHOPS

Legal professionals in Southwest Florida are invited to attend workshops on identity theft restoration and data breach response plans hosted by Hodges University's Identity Fraud Institute in March 24 and 31 at the Naples campus. The cost to attend each one-day workshop is $345 or $295 for nonprofit and government employees, and professional credits are available. The "Developing a Data Breach Response Plan for Legal Professionals" program will take place from 8:30 a.m. – 4 p.m. on March 24. The deadline to register is March 17; individuals who register by March 10 will receive a discounted rate. The "Identity Theft Restoration for Legal Professionals" workshop will take place from 8:30 a.m. – 4 p.m. on March 31. The deadline to register is March 24; individuals who register by March 17 will receive a discounted rate. To register, visit
