Boost Your Business with a 1300 Number

Australia Wide National Numbers

1300 numbers are 10-digit Australia-wide numbers where the caller is charged a local call rate when dialling from any Australian phone line, including mobiles. That's why they're often referred to as Local Call Numbers. Being Australia-wide means there is no need to use an area prefix when calling the number, making it easy for customers to contact your business.
