

5 Digital Resources for Teaching Personal Finance

STUKENT

RESOURCE #1

Savings Accounts: What You Need to Know (360 Degrees of Financial Literacy)

Use this web page to teach your students the basics of managing a savings account. The tips and tricks listed here will help you teach students habits crucial for succeeding financially, such as saving toward a goal or having a financial cushion for when life inevitably happens.

More Info

RESOURCE #2

Million Stories

Million Stories is a unique website that uses the stories of real people to teach financial education and solidify crucial life lessons. Choose from a variety of original and curated content you can share with students to bring finances to life and improve classroom engagement.

More Info

RESOURCE #3

The Student Guide to Personal Finance Adulting 101

In this video, YouTube influencer Studyquill discusses personal finance basics. Share this video with your students to help them gain a deeper understanding of what to expect when they go off to college and how to be financially wise.

More Info

RESOURCE #4

How to Find Grants for College (Forbes)

Give your students a leg up as they prepare for college with this insightful Forbes article. Consider class discussions around the types of grants available, how grants differ from scholarships, and how students can apply for grants.

More Info

RESOURCE #5

Stukent Mimic Personal Finance Simulation

The Mimic Personal Finance simulation helps students put personal finance theory into practice. The simulation uses decision-based learning to help students discover effective practices and techniques that work for them personally. Students gain real-world experience as they analyze their situation, needs, and goals, while dealing with the consequences of their financial choices. As a result, students learn how to make smart financial decisions throughout their lives.

More Info

STUKENT