

Drain body

Product information for the product group

ACO Product benefits

- Robust body and massive upper surface guarantee a problem free long term operation
- Flexible installation due to rotatable and adjustable top section
- Suitable for public areas due to locked grating
- Load class: K 3
- Brushed silk gloss grating
- Suitable for all push fit pipe socket systems
- Socket inclination 90°

Item Technical Data 97211

|                                                                                     | Flange design | Description                                                                                                                                           | Flow rate[l/s] |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|
|  |               | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• For damp membrane applications</li> <li>• With slotted grating</li> <li>• Gully top: 150 x 150 mm</li> </ul> | 1.2l/s             |

Dimensions

