

Enhancing a client's POS-to-Time Integration Solution to meet their changing business needs

About Flix Brewhouse

Cinema Breweries, parent company of Flix Brewhouse in Round Rock, Texas, is the only first run movie theatre in the world to incorporate a microbrewery. Guests enjoy award-winning craft beer and delicious food on an a la carte basis as they enjoy newly released movies.

The Problem

Already an IDI client of a few years, Flix Brewhouse was having an issue with how their Point-of-Sale system records employees' breaks. This was a significant compliance concern, so their payroll administrator, Kelly, contacted IDI for help. Her IDI solution was already connecting her POS system and her time and attendance system, and she was hoping IDI could also be configured to properly classify the break time. As a last resort she would need to explore a new POS system, or incur significant charges to customize their existing POS.

The Solution

IDI's Support Team was ready and available to analyze Flix Brewhouse's current business needs. With the addition of job transfer logic and rules that interpret the POS punch data, the right level of detail could be sent, enabling their time and attendance system to be the system of record for employee meals and break logic. Kelly was happy to learn that there was no need to change POS systems.

IDI's Employee Punch Times Integration solution automates the transfer of punch and tip data for many clients in Restaurant/Hospitality industries who use different collection devices for employee punches, such as a Point-of-Sale device. We can automate the import of those employee in/out times, tips and non-worked hours from other systems and apply tip pooling/allocation policies for import into payroll. The IDI solution allows clients to benefit from avoiding dual punching in the POS and a time system and delivers the accuracy and automation of the data exchange.

“ I can't thank you enough for this ! Thank you very much for your time and understanding and taking my issue to complete resolution all within a reasonable time frame !

Kelly F.,
