MEDICAL SCREENING THERMAL CAMERAS

Top 10 Technical Criteria to Consider when Evaluating Thermal Cameras

EVALUATION CHECKLIST

1 APPROXIMATE COST OF EQUIPMENT

Prices can vary depending on manufacturer. Price ranges are approx. $2K to $50K per unit.

2 ESTIMATED LEAD TIME

How quickly do you need this unit as camera lead times will vary based on manufacturer 1-8 weeks.

3 SCREENING MEASUREMENT ACCURACY

Ranges of accuracy can vary from (+-) .3f to (+-) 9f.

4 RECOMMENDED OPERATIONAL DISTANCE

Where is the intended location/environment as operational distances can range from 18 inches to 21 feet.

5 DOES THIS MANUFACTURER HAVE FDA APPROVAL?

FDA approval requires +/- .9f accuracy for medical device screening. There may be legal implications associated with using non FDA approved products.

6 IS THIS MANUFACTURER ON THE NDAA BANNED LIST?

There is a Federal government list of banned cameras that we recommend customers avoid.

7 HAS ANY HARDWARE OR SOFTWARE BEEN REBRANDED?

Many rebranded cameras are on the NDAA banned list.

8 CAN THIS PRODUCT SCREEN MOVING TARGETS?

1. Your throughput and design requirements dictate the list of product options.
2. .3s to 5 seconds read time per individual.

9 DOES THIS PRODUCT INTEGRATE WITH 3RD PARTY VMS OR ACS?

This is a question of design intent and would dictate the list of product options.

10 DO YOU REQUIRE A MOBILE OR MOUNTED SOLUTION?

Mounting options vary from different manufacturers (Tripod, handheld, kiosks, fixed, etc).
