

EROSION CONTROL

Evan Dubuc of Dubuc Excavating was contacted by Warren South Burial Ground (Warren, RI) for a solution to the cemetery's problem. The task? To provide a reliable road for visitors that would not disrupt the beauty of the grounds nor leave deep potholes as asphalt or dirt often do. Evan knew that EJP Rhode Island and EJP Erosion Control Specialist, Mike Everhart, would be able to assist with finding a solution. They recommended a Presto product, GEOBLOCK 5150 (a Grass Paver/Porous Pavement System), which gave them exactly what they needed for the project's success - integrity to hold up automobile traffic and the beauty to be maintained on the cemetery grounds.

HANDS-ON LEARNING

One of the exciting aspects of being a student at the University of Prescott is the chance to learn new skills on the job. Pictured here, UP student Jordan Kornacki and Floater Service Tech Justin Meczywor are working together to tap a 16" water main to provide fire service to a local manufacturing facility.

Jordan, a native of Blandford, MA, joined the program earlier this year after a family friend suggested that he look into the program. Having had various jobs after graduating high school, Jordan was looking to find a career. Since coming on board, Jordan has spent time traveling to several different locations and learning about the different positions within the company. His eagerness to learn and try new skills has made him a welcomed part of the team. Working closely with his Springfield mentor, Chad Martin, Jordan looks forward to continuing to develop his toolbox of skills to prepare him for a fulfilling career in the waterworks industry!

CONCORD TRAINING

EJP Concord hosted a well-attended class for VAS customers in Lincoln, NH, on October 21. The class consisted of a full day of presentations and hands-on training that focused on different aspects of water distribution systems, new technology, and safety. Modules were taught by Bob Moody, Ron Zachau, Nick Bates, and John Flagg from Team EJP, Mike Ganem from American Flow Control, Guy Canto from Romac, and Mike Parrish from AY McDonald.

Everyone was appreciative of the credit hours, comradery, networking, and food provided during the training – especially given the recent popularity of virtual events. Thanks go out to Jason Kelley for helping coordinate, and to everyone that was in attendance to make for a successful day of waterworks training.

CELEBRATIONS

Chris Goodrich Retires

After 16 years with Team EJP, Chris Goodrich, AMR Specialist, has decided to retire. He and his beloved wife, Arlene, have begun their new voyage, states away, settling into their dream home in North Carolina. Chris was a pleasure to work alongside; his passion, drive, and can-do spirit were just as infectious as his enthusiasm. We thank you, miss you, and wish you the best!

MWWA Sponsor of the Year

Team EJP's Steve Horn and Chris Granese were proud to accept the MWWA Sponsor of the Year award from Chuck Dam (President of MWWA). Thank you for a wonderful night and fantastic event. ■

Congratulations, Mark Curtis!

Gorham Business Exchange names Mark Curtis, General Manager at Gorham Sand and Gravel of Buxton, Business Person of the Year! Pictured here, Gorham Business Exchange President Ethan Johnson (left) and board member David Willis (right) present Mark Curtis with the award.

Bud Henke Retires

After 28 years filled with many fond memories, Bud Henke will retire. Bud has been an integral part of Team EJP since 1993 when he was hired and opened the Lima, OH, division. Since then, he has assisted in opening another Ohio division and grown as a sales representative. This milestone is bittersweet, as farewells and well wishes are sent to one of the industry's greats.

PRSRT STD U.S. POSTAGE PAID Portland, ME Permit No. 380

Website: www.ejprescott.com Email: ejp@ejprescott.com

Fax: (207) 582-5637

Libby Hill Business Park P.O. Box 600 Gardiner, Maine 04345

BETH COOLEY CELEBRATES 30 YEARS

Beth Cooley joined Everett J. Prescott, Inc. back in December of 1991. Known for her kindness, passion, hustle, and willingness to help in any way she can, Beth quickly proved herself to be a highly valuable member of the Team EJP family. If you can catch her between tasks, you may even hear about one of her many marvelous memories of Everett J. Prescott or one of the thousands of reasons why EJP means so much to her. Her selflessness and strong work-ethic shine, but her personality makes her one of our favorites! Thank you for all you do, Beth. ■

Prescott
Family
Album

1910 - 2021

Harry R. Prescott Delivery Truck, 1910

Delivering high-quality products and services for 111 years!

Patrick R. Prescott Service Truck, 2021

"Team EJP has thrived as a family-owned company through five generations, and we look forward to watching what the next five will accomplish"

- Patrick R. Prescott

WATER • WASTEWATER • STORMWATER SOLUTIONS