YEAR IN REVIEW

A Message from Our President and CEO

"A republic, if you can keep it," Benjamin Franklin supposedly answered, when asked to describe America's form of government.

Incredibly, we have kept it, despite the magnitude of events that have threatened the American experiment throughout the past two and a half centuries.

From a Civil War that almost permanently divided us, to turbulent Vietnam-era protests and political assassinations, to the attacks on our soil on 9/11, unity and freedom have been in great peril since the very birth of our nation.

Today is no different. Political and culture wars, an expansive administrative state, and the erosion of civil society are steadily undermining liberty, self-initiative and local solutions, all hallmark characteristics of democracy in the United States.

That our country has thus far persevered is due to the pillars of American exceptionalism. From The Bradley Foundation's perspective, that includes a fidelity to the Constitution, a strong free market system, an informed citizenry and a vibrant civil society.

Yet there are no guarantees that these pillars will exist in perpetuity. As history has shown, they are only as strong as we are willing to restore, strengthen and protect them. It is through this lens that the Foundation views its mission.

The breadth of remarkable organizations we support reflects our commitment to upholding the principles and institutions that have made America a bastion of freedom and opportunity.

Bradley Foundation grantees range from national think tanks that produce world class research, to small grassroots groups that are tackling tough urban problems, street by street. All share an innate belief in the dignity of every individual and the richness of thriving communities.

As America confronts another test of survival, The Bradley Foundation will continue to support groups that restore trust in our country's traditions, its institutions and in each other.

Please take some time to learn about the incredible grantees listed in the Foundation's 2021 Year in Review. Doing so will inspire confidence that yes, we can in fact keep our republic.

Sincerely,

Our Philanthropic Legacy

In 1903, brothers Lynde and Harry Bradley launched an endeavor in Milwaukee that would have a profound impact on both the local community and the nation. Through ingenuity, hard work, risk-taking, and compassion, they built a business that eventually became the Allen-Bradley Company, a leading electronic and radio components manufacturer. In 1985, the Allen-Bradley Company was sold to Rockwell International. A portion of the proceeds of that sale provided the initial funding for The Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation.

Lynde and Harry Bradley believed in freedom and in the richness of community and culture that are the basis of a well-lived life. The Bradley Foundation seeks to further those beliefs by supporting the study, defense, and practice of the individual initiative and ordered liberty that lead to prosperity, strong families, and vibrant communities. So far, The Bradley Foundation has awarded over $1 billion in grants to almost 2,000 nonprofit organizations. This includes organizations supporting community life in Milwaukee and throughout Wisconsin, as well as organizations committed to preserving and defending the traditions of representative government and private enterprise that enable America to flourish.

Our Vision, Mission and Guiding Principles

Lynde Bradley (1906)

Harry Bradley (1912)

Steadfastly adhering to the principles and examples of its namesakes, Lynde and Harry Bradley, The Bradley Foundation envisions a nation invigorated by the principles and institutions that uphold our unalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

To further this vision, The Bradley Foundation pursues a mission to restore, strengthen, and protect the principles and institutions of American exceptionalism.

The Foundation has articulated the following guiding principles to inform its grantmaking:

- Fidelity to the Constitution, with its principles of limited government, federalism, separation of powers, and individual liberties;
- Commitment to free markets that allow for private enterprise, entrepreneurship, and voluntary exchange within the rule of law;
- Commitment to the fundamental institutions of civil society that cultivate individuals capable of self-governance; and
- Dedication to the formation of informed and capable citizens.
