PARTNERING WITH BRANDS, AGENCIES, & DEVELOPMENT STUDIOS

TeamPeople is a creative services company equipped with the technical and creative talent you need to complete your project on-time and on-budget! With a background in production, we know the critical skills necessary at every stage of the process - from development to QA to marketing, and more. We can help staff the contingent workforce for development studios, as well as in-house agencies for non-endemic brands entering the gaming industry. With our scalable model, we can provide a single person, an entire team, or work with the team you have in place. Let's join forces to improve the gaming workforce!
