Subject: Look what I found for our company!

From: Your Name - your_name@yourcompany.com

Hello,

I was looking for professional development options online, and I found this company called LeggUP. They deliver career coaching offered as a voluntary or employer-paid benefit. What's great is their turnkey approach as a voluntary benefit means there is no cost for our company! They even have the ability to blend the voluntary and employer-paid options.

Will you take a look at their website and connect me with the employee benefits person in our company who could help us explore this benefit? It looks like their company-wide assessments have some insightful reporting and I'm sure there are others like me looking for career coaching too.

Here is their website if you want more information.

Looking forward to hearing your thoughts!
