Therapy Watch: Research Analyst

Research Partnership is the largest independent healthcare market research and consulting agency in the world. We are looking for a bright, dynamic Research Analyst with an interest in developing their career in syndicated Quantitative research to join our fast growing team in Fulham, London.

The Research Analyst role we are looking to hire is an important role within our business. It sits within our specialist syndicated research team, Therapy Watch. You will deliver a range of syndicated studies, developing your expertise in a specific therapy area, while supporting more senior researchers to deliver expert analysis and presentations to clients.

Research Partnership works with a wide variety of clients from across the global pharmaceutical, medtech and biotech industries, providing research intelligence and strategic recommendations that elevate healthcare brands and power their success. Our team in London currently numbers over 100, and we have offices situated around the globe.

As a TW Research Analyst your work will primarily involve data cleaning and analysis of TW data. You will be exposed to different market research techniques across the industry through general RP training, but you will also receive TW specific training enabling you to familiarise yourself fully with TW processes.
