

Employment opportunity

Director, Philadelphia

Your skills and experience

Significant experience in market research and deep understanding of the healthcare industry. Have demonstrable strengths in leading projects and client management. A desire to develop new business and grow accounts, with the ultimate aim of growing your own client base.

Your primary role

Will be to lead relationships with clients, prepare strong proposals, write and deliver engaging presentations, and manage project teams. You will be a confident business developer and expert advisor to your clients. You will play a significant part in developing Research Partnership's offering to clients, and will be at the forefront of innovation within the company.

Further information

This is a full-time role, based in our US HQ in Horsham, Philadelphia, a suburb about 30 minutes from Center City. We offer formal as well as on-the-job training, competitive salaries, and opportunities for internal advancement, health benefits, and a 401K plan with company contributions. If you have the drive and dedication, the sky's the limit!

About Research Partnership

We are the largest independent healthcare market research and consulting agency in the world. Trusted partner to the global pharmaceutical industry, we use our expertise and experience to deliver intelligent, tailor-made solutions.

Enjoy a successful and fulfilling career with us

researchpartnership.com/vacancies

London Lyon Singapore
New York Philadelphia San Francisco
