Research Executive, San Francisco

Your skills and experience

Graduate with 1 to 2 years of experience in market research in any sector (ideally healthcare but not essential). Commitment to client service and “getting the job done”. Strong verbal and written communication. Attention to detail. Ability to multi task.

Your primary role

As a part of a project team, you will be responsible for the running of 2-3 projects concurrently on a daily basis - including conducting the primary qualitative and quantitative analysis. This will also involve briefing of, liaison and negotiation with subcontractors (fieldwork agencies, freelance transcribers, analysers and interviewers); you may conduct telephone interviews with respondents; manage central locations and conduct on the spot analysis as well. You will help prepare sections of the final client presentation. You will provide feedback to your Manager as well as regular updates to the client.

Further information

This is a full-time role, based in our San Francisco office, located two blocks from Union Square and within a 5 minute walk of both BART and Muni. We offer formal as well as on-the-job training, competitive salaries, and opportunities for internal advancement, health benefits, and a 401K plan with company contributions. If you have the drive and dedication, the sky’s the limit!
