Senior Research Executive, San Francisco

Your skills and experience

Graduate with more than 2 years of experience in market research (ideally healthcare but could be consumer). Strong project management skills. Ability to work under pressure and to tight deadlines. Attention to detail.

Your primary role

Your role will be to oversee the smooth running of fieldwork, analysis and data processing. With input from your manager you will be writing guides and questionnaires as well as being involved in proposal writing. You will conduct depth interviews with key respondents and manage central locations with clients present.

You will analyse the findings, helping to write the presentation with input from your manager. Your job also involves ongoing monitoring of job costs to meet budgets as well as managing junior members of your project team.

Further information

This is a full-time role, based in our San Francisco office, located two blocks from Union Square and within a 5 minute walk of both BART and Muni. We offer formal as well as on-the-job training, competitive salaries, and opportunities for internal advancement, health benefits, and a 401K plan with company contributions. If you have the drive and dedication, the sky's the limit!
