Industry perspectives: which location categories to focus on?
Industry perspectives

Which location category will work best for you?

Adthena’s customer research revealed that location targeting tactics vary drastically across industries, sub-industries, and individual businesses. This is largely because each businesses’ strategic goals and KPIs are unique, so they use custom location targeting tactics to achieve those goals.

Takeaway: The right location categories to focus on will depend on your business, your goals and your consumers’ behaviour. Adthena’s Local View provides insights into your users’ behaviour, your local competitors and ad copy by location to help you hit your targets.

Key advice from our experts on how to get the most out of local search intelligence in your industry:

Retail
- Gain insight into “near me” searches to understand local demand.
- Get clarity on the effectiveness of localized ad copy, what competitors are bidding on or promoting, and local search infringements.
- Use local intelligence to manage omnichannel effectiveness and respond quickly to market changes by moving budgets.
- Use ad copy messaging including ‘click and collect’ or coupons to promote footfall back to store.

QSR and fast casual
- Leverage competitor benchmarking and monitoring, as well as local partner and affiliate management, to understand distribution efficiencies and drive customer acquisition at new local levels.
- Identify emerging trends across distinct regions (e.g., New York City versus Little Rock) and seasonal variation in search.

Grocery
- Analyze “near me” searches to understand local demand.
- Get clarity on the efficacy of localized ad copy and what competitors are bidding on or promoting (e.g., curbside pickup, etc.).
- Get on top of local search brand infringements.
- Drive in-store traffic with the right promotion, and understand the effectiveness of offline media.

Automotive
- Target different vehicles to different areas (e.g., SUVs and 4x4s for more rural areas versus luxury models in cities), and understand the highest performing themes in ad copy (e.g., rebates versus extended warranty).
- Understand the regions that competitors are pushing competing models and find opportunities to conquest your model against a competitor (i.e. Toyota corolla vs Honda civic).
- Monitor competitors carefully to get ahead in the exploding market for electric vehicles.
- Manage dealer efficiency via local brand search and get a handle on infringements.

Finance
- Target customers county-by-county with localised ad copy.
- Understand location conditions for rolling out new products and services.
- Use Local View data to drive users to online banking during branch closures.
- Analyze the most effective competitor ad copy.

All industries
- Ensure search term, competitor, device, and brand shift intelligence is automated and actionable to save time and move quickly.
