

Hello Orchard EcoVillagers!

Since our last update in July, the team has been hard at work to get all the requisite permits to begin construction. We have secured one of the permits required after considerable back and forth with the Planning department. We are now engaged in more daily back and forth with the BCU (Building Control Unit) department for our final building permit. Various building code changes are being implemented by the Planning department for new construction and therefore, the process has been very slow as the department has been awaiting direction from the Government on how to proceed with many pending projects as it relates to building code requirements. Needless to say, it has pushed out our construction start date by a few months. We are still expecting the construction to begin in the coming months and we will provide an update on the exact date to you as there will be a groundbreaking celebration that we are planning, to which all homeowners will be invited. As mentioned in the previous newsletter, the selection of finishes will begin once we start construction.

Rest assured we are on track to deliver your home to you well before June 2022.

Local Market E-commerce Site

The Orchard team is also excited to share with you a new initiative, called Local Market, that we have supported in its development, which will bring fresh produce directly from farmers to Cayman residents using an online store format. Local Market launching next week, will allow homeowners at Orchard to start enjoying direct-to-home delivery of local fruits, vegetables, meat and snacks all made in Cayman! What's more, many of these farmers and vendors are Orchard's neighbors and getting access to their delicious products now means you get a head start in interacting with the agricultural heritage and people from your new community. Keep an eye out for an invitation to register for Local Market in your inbox and be entered to win a Thanksgiving gift basket full of local flavors.

Happy Thanksgiving!
Orchard Team