EBM SEGMENT SIGNS

Engineered and manufactured to withstand the fiercest conditions, PWM's segment signs have been known to last decades without any service calls. As one of the first technologies in the automatically adjusted price display sector, segment signs are still a popular choice today.

The electro-magnetic segments are durable and robust, withstanding both low and high temperatures.

And since power is only needed as the price changes, power consumption is extremely low. The unit is available in many color combinations, and the segment display is easy to read, both day and night.
