

Leadership... It Takes a Team

Join us for a free
Virtual seminar
with executive coach John Gronski. John will walk you through an exciting journey of self-awareness and leadership training focusing on an overview of decision-making, resilience, and character.

March
25

6 PM - 8 PM

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN FROM THIS SEMINAR:

Introduction to decision-making! Learn how:

- To make successful strategic decisions
- To balance and have flexibility
- To create an environment where your followers believe that demonstrating high levels of initiative is worth the risk of making an honest mistake.

Gain an understanding of why leading with character is essential for leading effective organizations. Learn how:

- Individual core values and organizational values provide direction for those you lead
- Credibility is key to developing trust in an organization
- Effective leaders place the needs of their followers ahead of their own

You will learn how to develop resiliency in yourself and those you lead.

Learn why you need to:

- Inspire positive energy rather than draining energy from the team
- Exhibit all the elements of fitness to include mental, emotional, physical, and spiritual
- Show your vulnerability because it is the key to leading teams and organizations and is seldom discussed
