

Employee Trust Matters

How Do WorkWell Onsite Physical Therapists Build a Healthier Workforce?

It's human nature. You trust a familiar face. When employees see onsite physical therapists every day, it creates a relationship that makes it easy to ask for help and advice.

Especially when a PT knows your workplace.

Employee Experience without an onsite PT

An employee who lifts 50 lb. sacks experiences back discomfort

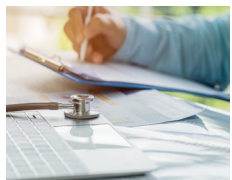

The employee leaves work for evaluation and treatment

Concerns about lift demands at work result in time off

Time off continues for ongoing treatment

Doctor approves return-to-work based on paperwork

Focus remains on treatment

Employee Experience with an onsite PT

An employee who lifts 50 lb. sacks experiences back discomfort

Employee immediately triaged by onsite PT

Referral to physician with relevant job information for injuries

PT reviews job site with employee

PT suggests temporary work modification, provides treatment and coaching at facility

Focus shifts to prevention: problem-solving, best work levels, risk assessment

Onsite PTs who know employees and the environment provide treatment for less and shift the emphasis to prevention.
