

SPXFLOW

March 5, 2019

SPX Flow is pleased to announce, effective today, that its Pneumatic Products Corporation (“PPC”), APV Industrial Heat Exchangers and Dollinger Filtration products will now be distributed in Canada through John Brooks Company Limited, based in Mississauga.

John Brooks has a great history of customer excellence across Canada over their 80-year history. With over 170 employees in Canada we are excited about their opportunity to support these product lines and continue to provide best in class service.

Additionally, certain of the SPX Flow employees previously associated with the PPC, APV Industrial Heat Exchangers and Dollinger Filtration product lines have joined the John Brooks organization. Their transition of employment should allow a seamless transition to John Brooks and a consistent customer experience.

As part of this transition, any orders received prior to March 5, 2019 will be completed by SPX Flow. All new inquiries starting on March 5, 2019 should be directed to John Brooks. The contact phone numbers for the inside and outside sales team members will remain unchanged and John Brooks will be reaching out starting on March 5 to provide new e-mail addresses.

We are very excited about this opportunity to partner with John Brooks and look forward to a successful 2019.
